This TMD is required under section 994B of the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth) (Act). It sets out the class of consumers to whom the Options would likely be consistent with their financial objectives, the distribution conditions and restrictions imposed on the distribution of the Options as well as reporting requirements for distributors in accordance with the requirements of section 994B of the Act.

Any recipient of this TMD should carefully read and consider the Prospectus in full and consult their stockbroker, accountant or other independent professional adviser if they have any questions regarding the contents of the Prospectus. Any recipient of this TMD who, being eligible, has been invited and wants to acquire Options under the Prospectus will need to complete the relevant Application Form. There is no cooling off period in respect of the issue of the Options. This TMD is not a disclosure document for the purposes of the Act and has not been lodged, nor does it require lodgement, with ASIC.

The TMD does not take into account what you currently have, or what you want or need, for your financial future. It is important for you to consider these matters and read the Prospectus before you make an investment decision. The Company is not licensed to provide financial product advice in relation to the Options.

2. TARGET MARKET

The table below summarises the overall class of consumers that fall within the target market for the Options, based on the product key attributes and the objectives, financial situation and needs that it has been designed to meet.

| Target Market Determination Requirement | Target Market Determination |
|---|---|
| Investment objective | The Company expects that an investment in Options will be suitable to investors who wish to gain exposure to equities in a small-cap mining company listed on the Australian Securities Exchange (ASX) |
| Investment timeframe | The target market of investors will take a short to medium term outlook on their investments. Investors with a short-term outlook for their investment will benefit from the ability to exercise Options and trade the underlying Shares issued on exercise of the Options should the exercise price of the Options be lower than the trading price of Shares at that time. Investors with a medium-term outlook will benefit from an ability to exercise the Options before the expiry date (being 30 November 2027) and increase their shareholding and exposure to the potential upside of Shares into the future. |

| Investment timeframe (cont.) | Given the need to pay the exercise price in order to exercise the Options and acquire Shares, Investors in the target market are in a financial position that is sufficient for them to invest their funds over an approximate period of two years should they wish to exercise their Options. Any decision to exercise the Options is likely to be based on the trading price of Shares. |
|------------------------------|---|
| Investment metrics | While the Company does not have an established eligibility framework for investors based on metrics such as age, expected return or volatility, it is expected that the target market of investors will be able to withstand potential fluctuations in the value of their investments and be investors who are accustomed to participating in speculative investments in the mining and exploration sector. |
| | An exercise price is required to be paid to acquire Shares on exercise of the Options. As such, in order to realise the underlying value of the Options investors would be required to exercise the Options on or before the expiry date (being 30 November 2027). Accordingly, investors in the target market will need to be in a financial position to have sufficient funds available as to facilitate the exercise of the Options prior to the expiry date. |
| | The Options offer no guaranteed income or capital protection. |
| Risk | The Company considers that an investment in the Options is highly speculative, such that an investment in the Company is not appropriate for an investor who would not be able to bear a loss of some or all of the investment. Investors should also have a sufficient level of financial literacy and resources (either alone or in conjunction with an appropriate adviser) to understand and appreciate the risk of investing in options as an asset class generally and the more specific risks of investing in an Australian listed mining company. |
